

Note: Italicized page numbers indicate illustrations. Names of people interviewed are pseudonyms and are shown with first name followed by (pseud.).

A

accountability, and flow experience, 151–52 accountability, of museums in 21st century, 246–48
advance organizers, 95 adventure tourism, 41 advertising. See marketing affective learning, in zoo/aquarium study, 85–86 African Americans, 29, 49, 50, 207–10 aquariums, 204
See also zoo/aquarium study art museums audience development efforts by Virginia Museum of Fine Arts, 207–10, 212 public perception of, 189
Rechargers and, 204
Toledo Art Museum study, 48–50 visitor experiences at National Gallery of Art, 91–95
visitor frequency and criteria for leisure experiences, 49 assessments museum visitor experience model and, 248– 49 as necessity for survival, 20–21, 246–49 outcomes-based, 247
Association of Zoos and Aquariums, 83 audience development, 206–13 audience focus groups, 185–86 audio guides, 226

B

Ballantyne, Roy, 52–53
Bandura, Albert, 75
Beard, J. G., 46, 57 behind-the-scenes tours, 228–29 benches, 230
Berkeley Botanical Gardens, visitor experiences at, 67–71
Berry, Leonard, 118
Bigley, James, 54–56
black churches, outreach through, 209 blockbuster exhibitions, 182, 191, 205, 218–19
Borun, Minda, 223

botanical gardens, 67–71, 204 brain function, 143–44, 147–48
Bronnenkant, Kerry, 83
Bruner, Jerome, 71–72

C

café
Experience seekers and, 227
Explorers and, 221
Facilitators and, 224
Professional/Hobbyists and, 229–30
Rechargers and, 231–32
California Science Center and Goose Bumps exhibit, 148 study of, 62–65
visitor experiences at, 103–8, 121–27, 129– 33 challenge, and flow experience, 151–52 children, and field trips, 26, 133, 269n29 Children's Museum, Indianapolis, 233–34 children's museums, 144, 189
choice, in memory and learning, 142–45, 218
See also free-choice learning churches, outreach through, 209 cognitive dissonance theory, 120 cognitive learning emotion, and short-term vs. long-term, 148 in San Antonio museums study, 55 structure and, in children, 269n29
in zoo/aquarium study, 85–86
cognitive lock-in, 97 collaborations with other organizations, 235 collector fairs, 203
Colonial Williamsburg, marketing budget of, 24 communication goals for museum professionals, 235–36
competition for funding, 244–46 competition for museum visitors, 183 conceptual advance organizers, 223 conceptual change studies, 134 content of exhibits, 23–27, 24, 35, 97
See also exhibitions contextualization, 87, 96–100, 150–52, 196

Contextual Model of Learning, 34–36, 96–100, 159, 216 control, in memory and learning, 142–45, 218 criteria for success, 239–40, 248 crowds, 231 cultural enrichment, and leisure, 43–44 cultural value, 240 culture, defined, 100 customer satisfaction, 46, 57, 117–20, 159 customer service, 226
Cxikzentmihalyi, Mihalyi, 151–52

D

del Bosque, Ignacio Rodriguez, 120 demographic characteristics of museum visitors, 28–32
Dierking, Lynn, 133, 216–17
Disney experience, 226, 227
Doering, Zahava, 52, 215
Driver, B. L., 46–48, 54
Dweck, Carol, 79

E

education. See learning
Einstein, Albert, 17
Ellenbogen, Kristin, 60
Elmira (pseud.), 17–20, 30–31 emotions and brain function, 147–48 and flow experiences, 152 and meaning-making, 146–50
 and memory, 153–56
 and the unconscious mind, 82
entering identity-related motivations entry narratives and, 265n21
 and meaning-making, 136
 and museum experience, 188, 215, 216 as predictor for visitor behavior, 87, 140 and predisposition of visitor, 156, 176–77
 See also identity-related motivations entertainment, 50–51
 See also leisure experiences entrance trajectories, stability of, 109 entry narratives, and learning outcomes, 52 escape mechanisms, 41 essential services, museums and, 244–46 evolution, and memory, 147

exhibitions

 blockbuster, 182, 191, 205, 218–19
 for Explorers, 219
 for Facilitators, 223
 Goose Bumps, 148–49
 Human Miracle, 105–6, 107–8, 129–30, 130, 145 in-museum use of, by public, 242 for Professional/Hobbyists, 228 quality of, 25–26, 99 viewing time for elements of, 98–99
 World of Life, 105, 121–22, 129, 150, 161–64, 168–69 expectancy theory, 140 expectations. See pre-visit expectations Experience seekers
 accommodating needs of, 225–27
 as ambassadors, 236 gains in cognitive and affective learning by, 85–86 marketing to identity-related needs of, 196–99
 memories of museum visit, 176
 and physical context, 99
 trajectories of, 175
 in typology of museum visitors, 64
 in zoo/aquarium study, 87
 See also Shawn (pseud.)
experiential approach to leisure experiences, 46 Explorers
 accommodating needs of, 217–21
 marketing to identity-related needs of, 190–92
 and physical context, 99
 sense of self-efficacy, 216
 trajectories of, 174
 in typology of museum visitors, 64
 visit motivations of, 108 visitor experiences of, 112
 in zoo/aquarium study, 86, 87
 See also Elmira (pseud.); Hanna (pseud.); Maria (pseud.); Sara (pseud.)

F
Facilitating Parents, 192–96, 222, 224–25, 233–34
Facilitating Socializers, 192–96, 222, 224, 225

Facilitators

- accommodating the needs of, 221–25
- choice and control in memorable visit experiences for, 145
- marketing for identity-related needs of, 192–96
- memories of museum visit, 176
- and physical context, 99
- reinforcement for, 155
- sense of self-efficacy, 216
- trajectories of, 174–75
- in typology of museum visitors, 64
- in zoo/aquarium study, 86, 87
- See also* Felipe (pseud.); Frank (pseud.); George (pseud.); Susan (pseud.)
- familiarity, search for, as dominant strategy for museum visitors, 97
- family guides, 222
- feedback, and flow experience, 151–52
- Felipe (pseud.), 121–27
- Fesenmaier, Daniel, 54–56
- field trips for children, 26, 133, 144–45, 269n29
- financial stability, as criteria for success, 240
- financial support for museums, 21–22, 54–56, 244–46, 247–48
- Florida Museum of Natural History, 203
- flow experiences, 151–52
- focus of museum visitors, 25
- Frances (pseud.), 67–71, 79, 88–89
- Frank (pseud.)
 - entering frame of, 138–39
 - entering frame of, and memories, 153–54
 - identity-related needs of, 139–40
 - pre-visit expectations and post-visit memories, 141–42
 - visitor experiences of, 129–33, 137–38, 145, 149–51
- free-choice learning
 - choice and control in, 258n32
 - and identity formation, 57–58, 60–61
 - impact model for, 243–44
 - museums and, 56–58, 142–45
 - rise in demand for, 182
- frequent visitors, 26–27, 48–50, 191, 194, 229
- front-end evaluations, 219
- funding for museums, 21–22, 54–56, 244–46, 247–48

G

- Geertz, Clifford, 137
- geographical memory, limbic system and, 146–48
- George (pseud.), 17–20, 30–31, 224
- gift shop
 - Experience seekers and, 227
 - Explorers and, 221
 - Facilitators and, 224
 - Professional/Hobbyists and, 229–30
 - Rechargers and, 231–32
- Godbey, Geof, 44
- Goffman, Erving, 67
- Goose Bumps: The Science of Fear* (exhibition), 148–49
- Government Performance and Results Act (GPRA), 247
- Graburn, Nelson, 39, 45
- Griffin, Janette, 144–45

H

- Hall, Edward T., 91
- Hanna (pseud.), 110–12
- Heimlich, Joe, 83
- hierarchy of needs theory, 43, 54–55
- High Desert Museum, Bend, Oregon, 110–12
- hobby groups, 202–3, 229
- Holmes, Len, 58
- Hood, Molly, 48–50
- Human Miracle* (exhibition), 105–8, 129–30, 145
- human selves, at biological level, 261n12

I

- identity
 - and behavior, 75–76
 - big 'I' vs. little 'i,' 73–74
 - as conceptual tool, 72, 76–80
 - as construct, 71–75
- identity-building, 153–54, 182
- identity-related categories of leisure benefits, 63–64
- identity-related goals, 110–12
- identity-related motivations
 - evidence for, 82–89
 - exploring as, 61

- identity-related motivations (continued)
 - as frame for experience, 81–82, 95
 - and leisure decision-making, 186–87
 - and museum visitor experience, 161
 - in museum visitor experience model, 35–37, 158–69, 159
 - proactive gauging of, 265n21
 - in recent research, 62–65
 - in zoo/aquarium study, 83, 84
 - See also* entering identity-related motivations
- identity-related needs
 - of Experience seekers, 196–99
 - as experiential filter, 136–42
 - of Explorers, 190–92
 - of Facilitators, 192–96
 - and leisure decision-making, 45–48, 80–81
 - in museum visitor experience model, 158
 - of Professionals/Hobbyists, 199–203
 - of Rechargers, 203–6
 - self-aspect and, 80
 - and visitor trajectories, 173–75
- Identity Theory, 75–76
- impact assessment, 246–49
- impact model of museums, 242–44
- Industrial Age, hallmark of, 181
- informed visitors, satisfaction of, 232–34
- intellectual enrichment, and leisure, 43–44
- intention/action relationship, 140
- International Spy Museum, 198–99
- Internet use for communication and marketing, 202, 211, 235
- interpretive tools, 218
- J
- James, William, 71, 129
- K
- Kalmar, Bernie, 71–72
- Kang, I., 119
- Kelly, John, 44, 46
- Knowledge Age, trends in, 41–45, 181–82
- L
- labels, 219, 220, 222–23, 226
- laddering procedures, 82
- Lane, Mark, 54–56
- lapel buttons, 236
- Lave, Jean, 60
- Lazarus, Richard, 147–48
- learners, persistent, 79
- learning
 - affective, 85–86
 - cognitive, 55, 85–86, 97, 148, 269n29
 - entry narratives and, 52
 - exhibit quality and, 25–26
 - as identity-work, 58–61
 - inseparability of components of, 147
 - and leisure, 43–44, 51, 56–58
 - motivational variables in, 144–45
 - motivation of, as intrinsic to museums, 49, 50, 64
 - predictors of, from museum experiences, 26–27
 - socio-cultural approach to, 60
 - and the unconscious mind, 82
 - See also* Contextual Model of Learning; free-choice learning
- lectures, 229
- Lee, B. K., 119
- leisure behavior
 - historical patterns of, 50
 - and identity, 44–45
 - in the Knowledge Age, 41–45, 182
 - motivations for, 45–46, 46–48, 54–55
 - time as limiting determinant of, 196
- leisure benefits, identity-related, 63–64
- leisure decision-making
 - Facilitating Parents and, 194–95
 - identity-related motivations and, 186–87
 - identity-related needs and, 45–48, 80–81
 - lack of institutional awareness of, 185–86
 - personal values and interests and, 50
 - as value-, cost-, and time-related, 42–44
- leisure experiences
 - criteria for judging, 48–50
 - experiential approach to, 46
 - positive feedback system in, 89
 - satisfaction in, 46, 57, 117–20, 159
 - and self-affirmation, 44
- leisure learning, 43–44, 56–58
- lenses of belief about museums and visitors, 23
- life-cycle experience, 51
- limbic system, and memory, 146–48
- Linville, Patty, 77–78
- live performances, 210

M

Mara (pseud.), 91–95, 97–98, 100

Maria (pseud.), 39–42, 59–61

marketing budgets for, 185

communicating multiple messages in, 189–90

content-focused, 24

effectiveness of, 187

for identity-related needs, 188–206

by International Spy Museum, 198–99 investment in, by museums, 155

museum visitor experience model and, 206–13

reinterpretation of, 209–10

by Tyne & Wear Museums, England, 210–11

Maslow, Abraham, 43, 54

Matusov, Eugene, 100

meaning and meaning-making in constrained situations with externally imposed goals, 143 construction of, 153–56, 160

evolutionary history of, 138 humans and, 137

identity-related needs and, 35

leisure participation and, 46 memory and, 136–37

role of content in, 26

role of emotions in, 146–50

self-aspects as cognitive framework for, 86 shaping of, by entering identity-related visit motivation, 136

Medved, Maria, 134

meetings of hobby groups at museums, 202–3 memory and memories

admission of pleasant vs. unpleasant experiences into, 147 children's, of field trips, 26, 133 choice and control in, 142–45, 218 emotions and, 148, 153–56

geographical, 146–48

limbic system and regulation of, 146–48 and meaning, 136–37

of museums, 133–36, 141–42, 176

self-aspects as framework for, 81–82 social interactions and, 33

and the unconscious mind, 82

memory-making, 142–45, 150–52, 196

memory retrieval, 151

Merton, Robert, 120

Monterey Bay Aquarium, 83

Morris Hargreaves McIntyre, 53–54

motivational categories, and characteristic visitor trajectories, 95–96

motivations of visitors categories of, 53

for engaging in recreational activities, 46–48

of Experience seekers, 197

for museum-going, 50–51, 186

self-aspects and, 79

self-perception and, 45–46

shifting, 109–13

See also entering identity-related motivations; identity-related motivations; learning

Mounir, Ragheb, 46

Mounir, Ragheb, 57

Moussouri, Theano, 50–51

museum attendance, 182–83

museum brand, dilution of, 183 museum-going as leisure experience, 41 museum-going decisions, 185–87

See also leisure decision-making museum membership, motivations for, 54–56 museum model, emulation of, 183, 244 museum professionals, 200–201, 235–36 museums

business models for, 181 competition with, for funding, 244–46 competition with, for visitors, 183, 244 goals of, 237, 239, 240

institutional impact, 241–46, 248 realignment of institutional goals, 243 reasons for not visiting, 212

re-envisioning as educational institutions, 235 museum space, hobby groups and, 202–3 museum staff

communications with visitors, 235–36

Experience seekers and, 225–26

- museum staff (continued)
 - Explorers and, 220
 - Facilitators and, 223
 - Professional/Hobbyists and, 229
 - Rechargers and, 231
- museum visitor experience
 - complexity of, 95
 - extension of, after departure, 234–37
 - factors influential in, 216–17
 - of Goose Bumps exhibition visitors
 - compared to control group, 148–49
 - identity-related motivations and, 161
 - as influence on future visits, 188
 - measuring impact of, 247–48
 - model of, 65
 - as personally-constructed reality, 137
 - pre-formed expectations and, 87–89, 126–27
 - re-envisioning, 184
- museum visitor experience model
 - and assessments, 248–49
 - and identity-related motivations, 35–37, 158–69
 - and identity-related needs, 158
 - and marketing, 206–13
 - in measuring success of museums, 248
 - next steps, 249–51
 - predictive possibilities of, 155–56, 176–77
 - and public good, 245
 - Susan (pseud.) and, 160–72
 - at work, 160–61
- museum visitors
 - attempts to describe, 27–34
 - construction of meaning by, 138
 - demographic characteristics of, 28–32
 - disparities between white and black, 50
 - first-time, 186, 191, 220, 229
 - focus of, 25
 - frequent, 26–27, 48–50, 191, 194, 229
 - lenses of belief about, 23
 - research on, 48–56
 - topics pursued during museum visits, 107
 - typology of, 64–65, 95–96, 158–59 (See also Experience seekers; Explorers; Facilitators; Professionals/Hobbyists; Rechargers)
- N
- National Aquarium, Baltimore, visitor experiences at, 17–20
- National Gallery of Art, visitor experiences at, 91–95
- National Museum of Natural History, Washington, D.C., 115–18, 198
- Navratilova, Martina, 74
- non-exhibit amenities
 - for Experience seekers, 226
 - Experience seekers and, 227
 - Explorers and, 221
 - Facilitators and, 224
 - Rechargers and, 231–32
- O
- Oatley, Phillip, 134
- once-in-a-lifetime experiences, 199
- Ontario Science Center study, 134
- organizational investment, as criteria for success, 239–40
- orientation materials, 222, 225–26, 229, 231, 232–34
- outcomes-based assessments, 247
- P
- Packer, Jan, 52–53, 56–57
- Parasuraman, A., 118
- parent-educator training workshops, 234
- Pearson, John, 143–44
- Pekarik, Andrew, 52
- Perry, Deborah, 144
- persistent learners, self-defined, 79
- personal context, and museum experience, 96–100
- personal interaction with visitors, 236–37
- Pesaran, Bijan, 143–44
- photo opportunity settings, 226–27
- physical context, and museum experience, 97–99
- picture taking, 226–27
- place, as motivation for museum-going, 51
- placebo effect, 140–41
- Platt, Michael, 143–44
- populations of visitors, 48–49

positive feedback system in leisure situations, 89 postcards, 236
post-visit narratives, 70, 86, 141–42, 165–70, 234–37
practical issues, as motivation for museum-going, 51
predictions of visitor experience, 22–23, 34–37
pre-visit expectations, and visitor experience, 46, 87–89, 120, 121–27, 141–42
See also entering identity-related motivations
pre-visit orientations, 232–34 price-consciousness, 196 professional groups, and lectures, 229 Professionals/Hobbyists
 accommodating needs of, 228–30
 marketing to identity-related needs of, 199– 203 memories of museum visit, 176
 and prior experience, 96–97
 trajectories of, 173–74
 in typology of museum visitors, 64
 visit motivations of, 94–95
 visit trajectories of, 102
 in zoo/aquarium study, 87
See also Mara (pseud.)
Proust, Marcel, 9
public good, support of, 239–41, 244–45 publicity programs. See marketing public's knowledge of museums, 96–97, 155–56 public's perception of museums, 140, 189, 245 public value, 20–21, 240, 246–49

R

reaching new audiences, 211–13 Rechargers
 accommodating needs of, 230–32
 marketing to identity-related needs of, 203–6
 memories of museum visit, 176
 origins of name, 259–60n45
 and physical context, 99
 reinforcement for, 155
 in typology of museum visitors, 64
 visit trajectories of, 102, 173–74
 in zoo/aquarium study, 87
See also Frances (pseud.)
recreational motivation theory, 54–55 restorative experiences, 204–5

Richmond, Virginia, 209–10
Roehl, Wesley, 54–56
Rogoff, Barbara, 100
Rounds, Jay, 58–59, 108, 154
Russell's Grid, 149

S

Salmi, Hannu, 144
San Antonio museums study, 54–55
San Martin, Hector, 120
Sara (pseud.), 103–8 school-based programs, museum-supported, 210 school field trips, 26, 133, 144–45, 269n29 Schrodinger, E., 157 science centers, public perception of, 189
Science Center study. See California Science Center
self, constructs of, 71–72 self-affirmation, leisure and, 44 self-aspects
 as cognitive framework for meaning making, 86 construct of, 77–79
 as contextually constructed, 87 as framework for memory, 81–82 importance of, on motivations and behavior, 79 and museums, 80–82
self-concept, as multi-faceted construct, 77 self-efficacy, 75, 215–16 self-fulfilling prophecies, 120–21, 142 self-perception, and motivation, 45–46 self-regulation, 75 seminars, 229 sense of self, 75
Serrell, Beverly, 98–99
Shafer, C. S., 119
Shawn (pseud.), 115–18
signage, 223, 229
Simon, Bernd, 72, 77 social gatherings at museums, 202–3 socio-cultural context, and museum experience, 32–34, 51, 99–100
stochastic models, 100–102, 173–77
Storksdieck, Martin, 62, 129, 217 success, criteria for, 239–40, 248

Susan (pseud.)

- entry interview, 162–63
- identity-related aspects of visit, 170–73
- museum visit experience, 163–65
- post-visit interview, 165–70

T

- Tate museums, study of, 53–54
- technologies, new, 219
- time, context of, 43, 98–99, 196
- Toledo Art Museum study, 48–50
- tours, behind-the-scenes, 228–29
- trends, in Knowledge Age, 42, 181–82
- Tyne & Wear Museums, England, 210–11
- typology of museum visitors, 64–65, 95–96, 158–59

U

- unconscious mind, the, 82
- U.S. National Science Foundation, 82–83

V

- viewing time, 98–99
- Virginia Museum of Fine Arts, 207–10, 212
- visit frequency, as measurement, 32
- visitor experiences, categories of, 52
- visitor groups, categories of, 53–54
- visitor needs, accommodating, 232–34
- visitor populations, 48–49
- visitors, as informed consumers, 232–34
- visitor satisfaction, 46, 57, 117–20, 159
- visitor trajectories
 - Contextual Model of Learning and, 216
 - creation of, and influences on, 95–96
 - deflected, 102–8
 - of Explorers, 218
 - identity-related need and, 173–75
 - stability of, 109, 156
 - in stochastic model, 100–102
- visit pathway. See visitor trajectories
- Vroom, Victor, 140
- Vygotsky, Lev, 59

W

- Weil, Stephen, 239
- Wenger, Etienne, 60
- Wertsch, James, 60
- Witgert, Nettie, 83
- word-of-mouth recommendations
 - Experience seekers and, 227
 - Explorers and, 192
 - Facilitators and, 195–96
 - influence of, on museum-goers, 187
 - and motivation to visit museum, 187
 - and public's knowledge of museums, 155–56
- workshops, 229
- World of Life* (exhibition), 105, 121–22, 129, 150, 161–64, 168–69

Z

- zoo/aquarium study
 - cluster analyses, 84–85
 - entering identity-related motivations and predictability of visitor experience in, 87
 - generalizability of, 88
 - instrument development, 83
 - results, 85
 - theory testing, 83–84